FINANCIAL REFORM.

The Principal Recommendation of the President.

PRESENT FOREIGN RELATIONS.

Further Tariff Legislation Urged to the Extent of Making Coal and Iron Free, Doing Away With the Sugar Differential, Construction of Ships, Etc., as Recommended by the Secretary of the Navy.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The following is President Cleveland's message to congress:

To the Congress of the United States: The assembly within the nation's legislative halls of those charged with the duty of making laws for the benefit of a generous and free people impressively suggests the exacting obligation and inextinguishable responsibility involved in their task. At the threshold of each labor now to be undertaken by the congress of the United States and in the discharge of an executive duty enjoined by the constitution I submit this communication, containing a brief statement of the condition of our national affairs, and recommending such legislation as seems to be necessary and expedient.

After referring to the peaceful relations existing between the United States and all foreign nations, the termination of the war in Brazil and the settlement of the Chilean claims by that government the president says:

The Far East War. On the 17th of March last a new treaty with China in further regulation of emigration was signed at Washington, and on Aug. 15 it received the sanction of the senate.

Ratification on the part of China and formal exchange are awaited to give effect to this mutually beneficial convention.

A gratifying recognition of the uniform impartiality of this country toward all foreign states was manifested by the coincident request of the Chinese and Japanese governments that the agents of the United States should, within proper limits, afford protection to the subjects of the other during the suspension of diplomatic relations due to a state of war.

This delicate office was accepted, and a misapprehension gave rise to the belief that in affording this kindly unofficial protection our agents would exercise the same authority which the withdrawn agents of the belligerents had exercised was promptly corrected. Although the war between China and Japan endangers no policy of the United States it deserves our gravest consideration, by reason of its disturbance of our growing commercial interests in the two countries and the increased dangers which may result to our citizens domiciled or sojourning in the interior of China.

Acting under a stipulation in our treaty with Korea (the first concluded with a western power) I felt constrained at the beginning of the controversy to tender our good offices to induce an amicable arrangement of the initial difficulty growing out of the Japanese demands for administrative reforms in Korea, but the unhappy precipitation of actual hostilities defeated this kindly purpose.

Deploring the destructive war between the two most powerful of the eastern nations and anxious that our commercial interests in these countries may be preserved and that the safety of our citizens there shall not be jeopardized, I would not hesitate to heed any intimation that our friendly relations with these countries would be acceptable to both belligerents.

A convention has been finally concluded for the settlement by arbitration of the prolonged dispute with Ecuador, growing out of the proceedings against Emilio Santos, a naturalized citizen of the United States.

Our relations with the republic of France continue to be such as should exist between nations so long bound together by friendly sympathy and similarity in their form of government.

Carnot's Assassination.

The recent cruel assassination of the president of this sister republic called forth such universal expressions of sorrow and condolence from our people and government as to leave no doubt of the depth and sincerity of our attachment. The resolutions passed by the senate and house of representatives on the occasion have been communicated to the widow of President Carnot.

Acting upon the reported discovery of Texas fever in cargoes of American cattle, the German prohibition against importations of livestock and fresh meats from this country has been revived. It is hoped that Germany will soon become convinced that the prohibition is as needless as it is harmful to mutual interests.

The German government has protested against that provision of the customs tariff act which imposes a discriminating duty of one-tenth of 1 cent a pound on sugars coming from countries paying an export bounty thereon, claiming that the exaction of such duty is in contravention of Articles 5 and 9 of the treaty of 1825 with Prussia.

In the interests of the commerce of both countries and to avoid even the accusation of treaty violation, I recommend the repeal of so much of the statute as imposes that duty, and I invite attention to the accompanying report of the secretary of state containing a discussion of the questions raised by the German protest.

Herring Sea Troubles.

Early in the present year an agreement was reached with Great Britain concerning instructions to be given to the naval commanders of the two governments in Behring sea and the contiguous North Pacific ocean for their guidance in the execution of the award of the Paris tribunal of arbitration and the enforcement of the regulations therein prescribed, for the protection of seal life in the waters mentioned.

An understanding has also been reached for the payment by the United States of $425,000 in full satisfaction if all claims which may be made by Great Britain for damages growing out of the controversy as to fur seals in Behring sea, or the seizure of British vessels engaged in taking seal in those waters. The award and findings of the Paris tribunal to a great extent determined the fact and principles upon which these claims should be adjusted, and they have been subjected by both governments to a thorough examination upon the principles as well as the facts which they involve. I am convinced that a settlement upon the terms mentioned would be an equitable and advantageous one and I recommend that provision be made for the prompt payment of the stated sum.

Thus far, only France and Portugal have signified their willingness to adhere to the regulations established under the award of the Paris tribunal of arbitration.

Preliminary surveys of the Alaskan boundary and a preparatory examination of the question of cession of food and the contiguous waters of the United States and the Dominion of Canada are in progress.

Hawaii.

Since communicating the voluminous correspondence in regard to Hawaii and the action taken by the senate and house of representatives on certain questions submitted to the judgment and wider discretion of congress the organization of a government in place of the provisional arrangement which followed the deposition of the queen has been announced with evidence of its effective operation. The recognition usual in such cases has been accorded the new government.

Good will fostered by many interests in common has marked our relations with our nearest southern neighbor.

Peace being restored along her northern frontier, Mexico has asked the punishment of the late disturbers of her tranquility. There ought to be a new treaty of commerce and navigation with that country to take the place of the one which terminated 18 years ago.

The recent death of the Czar of Russia called forth appropriate expressions of sorrow and sympathy on the part of our government with his bereaved family and the Russian people. As a further demonstration of respect and friendship our minister at St. Petersburg was directed to represent our government at the funeral ceremonies.

The sealing interests of Russia in Behring sea are second only to our own. A modus vivendi has therefore been concluded with the imperial government restrictive of poaching on the Russian fisheries and of sealing in waters which were not comprehended in the protected area defined in the Paris award.

Occasion has been found to urge upon the Russian government equality of treatment of our great life insurance companies whose operations have been extended throughout Europe.

Admitting, as we do, foreign corporations to transact business in the United States, we naturally expect no less tolerance for our own in the ample fields of competition abroad.

But few cases of interference with naturalized citizens returning to Russia have been reported during the current year. One Krzeminski was arrested last summer in a Polish province on a reported charge of unpatriotic renunciation of Russian allegiance, but it transpired that the proceedings originated in alleged misfeasance committed by Krzeminski while an imperial official in number of years ago. Efforts for his release, which promised to be successful, were in progress when his death was reported.

The government of Salvador having been overthrown by an abrupt popular outbreak, certain of its military and civil officers, while hotly pursued by infuriated insurgents, sought refuge on board the United States warship Bennington, then lying in a Salvadoran port. Although the practice of asylum is not favored by this government, yet in view of the imminent peril which threatened the fugitives, and solely from considerations of humanity, they were afforded shelter by our naval commander, and when afterward demanded under our treaty of extradition with Salvador for trial on charges of murder, arson and robbery, I directed that such of them as had not voluntarily left the ship be conveyed to one of our nearest ports where a hearing could be had before a judicial officer in compliance with the terms of the treaty.

On their arrival at San Francisco such a proceeding was promptly instituted before the United States district judge, who held that the acts constituting the alleged offenses were political, and discharged all the accused except one Cienfuegos, who was held for an attempt to murder. Thereupon, I was constrained to direct his release, for the reason that an attempt to murder was not one of the crimes charged against him, and upon which his surrender to the Salvadoran authorities had been demanded.

The Bluefields Imbroglio.

Prominent among the questions of the year was the Bluefields incident, in what is known as the Mosquito Indian strip, bordering on the Atlantic ocean and within the jurisdiction of Nicaragua. By the treaty of 1860 between Great Britain and Nicaragua the former government expressly recognized the sovereignty of the latter over the strip, and a limited form of self-government was guaranteed to the Mosquito Indians, to be exercised according to their customs, for themselves and other dwellers within its limits.

Early in the past year efforts of Nicaragua to maintain sovereignty over the Mosquito territory led to serious disturbances, culminating in the suppression of the native government and the attempted substitution of an impracticable composite administration in which Nicaragua and alien residents were to participate.

Failure was followed by an insurrection, which for a time subverted Nicaraguan rule expelling her officers and restoring the old organization. This in turn gave place to the existing local government established and upheld by Nicaragua.

Although the alien interests arrayed against Nicaragua in these transactions have been largely American, and the commerce of that region for some time has been and still is chiefly controlled by our citizens, we can not for that reason challenge the rightful sovereignty of Nicaragua over this important part of her domain.

For some months one, and, during part of the time, two, of our naval ships have been stationed at Bluefields for the protection of all legitimate interests of our citizens. In September last the government at Managua expelled from its territory 12 or more foreigners, including two Americans, for alleged participation in the seditious or revolutionary movements against the republic at Bluefields already mentioned, but through the earnest remonstrance of this government the two Americans have been permitted to return to the peaceful management of their business. Our naval commander at the scene of these disturbances, by their constant exhibition of firmness and good judgment, contributed largely to the prevention of more serious consequences and to the restoration of quiet and order.

The Nicaraguan authorities, having given notice of forfeiture of their concession to the canal company on grounds purely technical and not embraced in the contract, have received from that position. Armenian Slaughter.

In my last annual message I adverted to the claim on the part of Turkey of the right to expel, as persons undesirable and dangerous, Armenians naturalized in the United States and returning to Turkish jurisdiction. Numerous questions in this relation have arisen.

While this government acquiesces in the asserted right of expulsion it will not consent that Armenians may be imprisoned or otherwise punished for no other reason than having acquired without imperial consent American citizenship.

Three of the assassins of Aissa Melton, American engineer in Mosul, have been convicted by the Ottoman courts, and I am advised that an appeal against the acquittal of the remaining five has been taken by the Turkish prosecuting officer. A convention has been concluded with Venezuela for the arbitration of a long disputed claim growing out of the seizure of certain vessels, the property of citizens of the United States.

Samoa Affairs.

In my last annual message, I referred briefly to the unsatisfactory state of affairs in Samoa under the operation of the Berlin treaty, as signally illustrating the impolicy of entangling alliances with foreign powers; and on May 9, 1894, in response to a resolution of the senate, I sent a special message and documents to that body on the same subject, which emphasized my previously expressed opinions.

Later occurrences, the correspondence in regard to which will be laid before congress, further demonstrate that the government which was devised by the three powers and forced upon the Samoans against their inveterate hostility can be maintained only by the continued presence of foreign military force and at no small sacrifice of life and treasure.

The suppression of the Matafua insurrection by the powers, and the subsequent banishment of the leader and 11 other chiefs, as recited in my last message, did not bring lasting peace to the islands.

Formidable uprisings continued, and finally a rebellion broke out in the Capital Island, Upolu, headed in Aana, the western district, by the younger Tanamasese, and in Atua, the eastern district, by other leaders.

The insurgents ravaged the country and fought the government troops up to the very doors of Apia. The king again appealed to the powers for help, and the combined British and German naval forces reduced the Atuaans to apparent submission, not, however, without considerable loss to the natives. A few days later Tanamasese and his adherents, fearing the ships and the marines, professed submission.

Reports received from our agents at Apia do not justify the belief that the peace thus brought about will be of long duration. It is their conviction that the natives are at heart hostile to the present government; that such of them as profess loyalty to it do so from fear of the powers, and that it would speedily go to pieces if the warships were withdrawn.

Condition of the Treasury.

The secretary of the treasury reports that the receipts of the government from all sources of revenue during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, amounted to $373,902,498.29, and its expenditures to $448,005,753.87, leaving a deficit of $60,803,255.58.

There was a decrease of $15,952,646.66 in the ordinary expenses of the government, as compared with the fiscal year 1893.

There was collected from customs $131,815,530.63, and from internal revenue $147,168,449.70. The balance of the income for the year, amounting to $33,815,817.07, was derived from the sales of lands and other sources.

The value of our total dutiable imports amounted to $273,199,086, being $140,657,435 less than during the preceding year, and the imports of free of duty amounted to $379,705,530, being $64,748,675 less than during the preceding year. The receipts from customs were $73,636,486.11 less, and from internal revenue $18,839,559.07 less than in 1893.

The total tax collected from distilled spirits was $25,240,240.25; on manufactured tobacco, $25,671,808.02; and on fermented liquors, $31,414,785.04.

Our exports of merchandise, domestic and foreign, amounted during the year to $693,140,572, being an increase over the preceding year of $44,495,375.

The total amount of gold exported during the fiscal year was $70,528,001 as against $108,680,444 during the fiscal year 1893. The amount imported was $72,449,119 as against $21,174,381 during the previous year.

The imports of silver were $13,286,552 and the exports were $50,451,965.

The duty paid upon the production of sugar in the United States for the fiscal year was $12,100,908.89, being an increase of $2,785,078.01 over the payments made during the preceding year.

The amount of bounty paid from July 1, 1894, to Aug. 28, 1894, the time when former payments ceased by operation of law, was $606,189.84. The total expense incurred in the payment of the bounty upon sugar during the fiscal year was $150,145.18.

It is estimated that upon the basis of the present revenue laws the receipts of the government during the present fiscal year ending June 30, 1895, will be $424,427,748.44, and its expenditures $444,427,748.44, resulting in a deficit of $20,000,000.

The first day of November, 1894, the total stock of money of all kinds in the country was $2,490,778,888, as against $2,204,051,000 on the first day of November, 1893, and the money of all kinds in circulation, or not included in the treasury holdings, was $1,072,098,423, or $24.27 per cent upon an estimated population of 68,887,000. At the same date there was held in the treasury gold bullion amounting to $44,615,177.55, and silver bullion, which was purchased at a cost of $127,779,993.

The purchase of silver bullion under the act of July 14, 1890, ceased on the 1st day of November, 1893, and up to that time there had been purchased during the fiscal year 1894 a total of 1,197,659.78 fine ounces at a cost of $8,715,631.39, an average cost of $0.7313 per fine ounce. The total amount of silver purchased from the time that law took effect until the repeal of its purchasing clause, on the date last mentioned, was 168,074,682.33 fine ounces, which cost $135,891,002.25, the average price per fine ounce being $0.8044.

The total amount of standard silver dollars coined in the mints of the United States since the passage of the act of Feb. 28, 1873, is $491,776,468, of which $378,168,798 were coined under the provisions of that act, $88,541,143 under the provisions of the act of July 14, 1890, and $5,078,472 under the act providing for the coinage of trade dollar bullion.

The total coinage of all metals at our mints during the last fiscal year consisted of 63,495,929 pieces, valued at $105,216,730.08, of which there were $90,474,919.50 in gold, $14,878 in standard silver dollars, $6,034,140.20 in subsidiary silver coin, and $716,919.38 in minor coin.

During the calendar year 1893 the production of precious metals in the United States was estimated at 1,739,823 fine ounces of gold, of the commercial and coinage value of $35,955,000, and 60,000,000 fine ounces of silver of the bullion or market value of $18,800,000 and of the coinage value of $7,570,000. It is estimated that on the first day of July, 1894, the stock of gold in the mints of the United States, consisting of coin and bullion, amounted to $1,351,640,933, of which $277,933,201 was gold and $274,347,737 was silver.

Fifty national banks were organized during the year ending Oct. 31, 1894, with a capital of $5,385,000, and 79 with a capital of $10,475,000 went into voluntary liquidation. Twenty-one banks, with a capital of $5,750,000 were placed in the hands of receivers. The total number of national banks in existence on the 31st day of October last was 3,756, being 49 less than on the 31st day of October, 1893. The capital stock paid in was $72,671,365, being $678,491 less than at the same time in the previous year, and the surplus fund and undivided profits, less expense and taxes paid, amounted to $34,121,082.10, which was $16,080,780 less than on October 31, 1893.

The circulation was decreased $1,731,563. The obligations of the banks to each other were increased $117,368,334, and the individual deposits were $378,204,489 less than at the corresponding date in the previous year. Loans and discounts were $151,266,923 more than at the same time the previous year, and checks and other cash items were $90,349,963 more. The total resources of the banks at the date mentioned amounted to $3,478,922,055, as against $3,109,563,284.36 in 1893.

Secretary of War's Report.

From the report of the secretary of war it appears that the strength of the army on Sept. 30, 1894, was 2,185 officers and 25,765 enlisted men. Although this is apparently a very slight decrease compared with the previous year, the actual effective force has been increased to the equivalent of nearly two regiments through the reorganization of the system of recruiting, and the consequent release to regimental duty of the large force of men hitherto serving at the recruiting departments. The abolition of these departments, it is predicted, will furthermore effect an annual reduction approximating $250,000 in the direct expenditures, besides promoting generally the health, moral and discipline of the troops.

The execution of the policy of concentrating the army at important centers of population and transportation, forecasted in the last annual report of the secretary, has resulted in the abandonment of 15 of the smaller posts, which was effected under a plan which assembles organizations of the same regiments hitherto widely separated. This renders our small forces more readily effective for any service which they may be called upon to perform, increases the extent of the territory under protection without diminishing the security heretofore afforded to any locality, improves the discipline, training, and esprit de corps of the army, besides considerably decreasing the cost of maintenance.

Though the forces of the department of the east have been somewhat increased, more than three-fourths of the army is still stationed west of the Mississippi. This careful nature of policy, which secures the best and greatest service in the interests of the general welfare from the small force comprising our regular army, should not be thoughtlessly embarrassed by the creation of new and unnecessary posts through acts of congress to gratify the ambitions or interests of localities.

While the maximum legal strength of the army is 26,000 men the effective strength, through various causes, is but little over 30,000 men. The purpose of congress was not, therefore, to be fully attained by the existing condition.

While no considerable increase in the army is, in my judgment, demanded by recent events, the policy of sea coast fortifications, in the prosecution of which we have been steadily engaged for some years, has so far developed as to suggest that the effective strength of the army be now made at least equal to the legal strength. It is hardly necessary to recall the fact that in obedience to the commands of the constitution and the laws, and for the purpose of protecting the property of the United States, aiding the process of federal courts and removing lawless obstructions to the performance by the government of its legitimate functions, it became necessary in various localities during the year to employ a considerable portion of the regular troops. The duty was discharged promptly, courageously and with marked discretion by the officers and men, and the most gratifying proof was thus afforded that the army deserves that complete confidence in its efficiency and discipline which the country has at all times manifested.

The reports of militia inspections by regular army officers show a marked increase in interest and efficiency among the state organizations, and I strongly recommend a continuance of the policy of affording every practical encouragement possible to this important auxiliary of our military establishment.

The skill and industry of our ordnance officers and inventors have, it is believed, overcome the mechanical obstacles which have heretofore delayed the armament of our coasts and this great national undertaking upon which we have entered may now proceed as rapidly as congress shall determine. With a supply of finished guns of large caliber on hand, to which additions should now rapidly follow, the wisdom of providing cradles and emplacements for their mount can not be too strongly urged.

Department of Justice.

The report of the attorney general notes the gratifying progress made by the supreme court in overcoming the arrears of its business and in reaching a condition in which it will be able to dispose of cases as they arise without any unreasonable delay. This result is, of course, very largely due to the successful working of the plan inaugurating circuit courts of appeals.

In respect to these tribunals the suggestion is made, in quarters entitled to the highest consideration, that an additional circuit judge for each circuit would greatly strengthen these courts and the confidence reposed in their adjudications, and that such an addition would not create a greater force of judges than the increasing business of such courts require. I commend the suggestion to the careful consideration of the congress.

Other important topics are adverted to in the report, accompanied by recommendations, many of which have been treated at large in previous messages, and at this time, therefore need only be named. I refer to the abolition of the fee system as a measure of compensation to federal officers; the enlargement of the powers of United States commissioners, at least in the territories, the allowance of writs of error in criminal cases on behalf of the United States and the establishment of degrees in the crime of murder.

A topic dealt with by the attorney general of much importance is the condition of the administration of justice in the Indian Territory. The permanent solution of what is called the Indian problem is probably not to be expected at once, but meanwhile such ameliorations of present conditions as the existing system will admit of ought not to be neglected. I am satisfied there should be a federal court established for the territory with sufficient judges that this court should sit within the territory and have the same jurisdiction as to territorial Indians as is now vested in the federal courts sitting in Arkansas and Texas.

It is my purpose at this time to report the considerations which make an irreparable case in favor of the ownership and management by the government of the penal institutions in which federal prisoners are confined. I simply desire to again urge former recommendations on the subject.

Postoffice Affairs.

The report of the postmaster general presents a comprehensive statement of the operations of the postoffice department for the last fiscal year.

The receipts of the department during the year amounted to $5,081,470.04, and the expenditures to $4,324,414.15.

The total number of postoffices in the United States on the 30th day of June, 1894, was 69,805, an increase of 1,436 over the preceding year. Of these 3,428 were presidential, an increase in that class of 65 over the preceding year.

Six hundred and ten cities and towns are provided with free delivery. Ninety-three other cities and towns entitled to this service under the law have not been accorded it on account of insufficient funds.

Our Navy.

Attention is called to the report of the secretary of the navy, which shows very gratifying progress in the construction of ships for our new navy. All the vessels now building, including the three torpedo boats authorized at the last session of congress, and excepting the first class battleship Iowa, will probably be completed during the coming fiscal year.

The estimates for the increase of the navy for the year ending June 30, 1896, are large, but they include practically the entire sum necessary to complete and equip all the new ships not now in commission, so that unless new ships are authorized the appropriations for the naval service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1897, should fall below the estimates for the coming year by at least $12,000,000.

The secretary presents with much earnestness a plea for the authorization of three additional battleships and 10 or 12 torpedo boats. While the unarmored vessels heretofore authorized, including those now nearing completion, will constitute a fleet, which, it is believed, is sufficient for ordinary cruising purposes in time of peace, we have now completed and in process of construction, but four first class battleships and but few torpedo boats.

If we are to have a navy for warlike operations, offensive and defensive, we certainly ought to increase both the number of battle ships and torpedo boats.

The manufacture of armor requires expensive plant and the aggregation of many skilled workmen. All the armor necessary to complete the vessels now building will be delivered before the 1st of June next. I feel it my imperative duty to call attention to the recommendation of the secretary in regard to the personnel of the line of the navy. The stagnation of promotion in this, the vital branch of the service, is so great as to seriously impair its efficiency.

I consider it of the utmost importance that the young and middle-aged officers should before the eve of retirement be permitted to reach a grade entitling them to active and important duty.

The system adopted a few years ago regulating employment of labor at the navy yards is rigidly upheld, and has fully demonstrated its usefulness and expediency.

Interior.

The report of the secretary of the Interior exhibits the situation of the numerous and interesting branches of the public service connected with his department. I commend this report and the valuable recommendations of the secretary to the careful attention of the congress. The public land disposed of during the year amounted to 10,406,100.77 acres, including 28,578.03 of Indian lands.

It is estimated that the public domain still remaining amounts to a little more than 600,000,000 acres, excluding, however, about 360,000,000 acres in Alaska, as well as military reservations and railroad and other selections of lands yet unadjudicated.

The total cash receipts from sale of lands amounted to $2,674,368.70, including $91,961.08 received for Indian lands.

At the close of the last fiscal year, on the 30th day of June, 1894, there were 909,544 persons on our pension rolls, being a net increase of 5,532 over the number reported at the end of the previous year.

These pensioners may be classified as follows: Soldiers and sailors, survivors of all wars, 753,953; widows and relatives of deceased soldiers, 215,102; army nurses in the war of the rebellion, 414. Of these pensioners, 32,039 are surviving soldiers of Indian and other wars prior to the late civil war, and the widows or relatives of deceased soldiers.

The remainder, numbering 887,505, are receiving pensions on account of the war of the rebellion, and of these 469,344 are on the rolls under the authority of the act of June 27, 1890, sometimes called the dependent pension law.

The total amount expended for pensions during the year was $139,304,481.05, leaving an unexpended balance from the sum appropriated of $45,205,712.68. The sum necessary to meet pension expenditures for the year ending June 30, 1896, is estimated at $140,000,000.

The commissioner of pensions is of the opinion that the year 1895, being the thirtieth after the close of the war of the rebellion must, according to sensible human calculation see the highest limit of the pension roll, and that after that year it must begin to decline.

The claims pending in the bureau have decreased more than 90,000 during the year. A large proportion of the new claims filed are for increased pension by those now on the rolls.

The number of certificates issued was 80,213.

The names dropped from the rolls for all causes during the year numbered 37,991. Among our pensioners are nine widows and three daughters of soldiers of the revolution and 45 survivors of the war of 1812.

The barefaced and extensive pension frauds exposed under the direction of the courageous and generous veteran soldier now at the head of the bureau leave no room for the claim that no purgation of our pension rolls was needed, or that continued vigilance and prompt action are not necessary to the same end.

The accusation that an effort to detect pension frauds is evidence of unfriendliness toward our worthy veterans and a denial of their claims to the generosity of the government, suggests an unfortunate indifference to the commission of any offense which has for its motive the securing of a pension, and indicates a willingness to be blind to the existence of mean and treacherous crimes which play upon democratic fears and make sport of the patriotic impulse of a grateful people.

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.

ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
Proprietors.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1894.

Holiday Advertising.

Merchants will find a liberal use of The BULLETIN's advertising columns especially profitable during the next six weeks. The large circulation of the paper insures the trading of business announcements before the eyes of most of the people of Maysville and Mason County, and many people of the adjoining counties are reached. Now is an especially good time to advertise.

Dr. Hon. John D. White, the "created Jayhawk" from the Eleventh Congressional district, knows what he is talking about. Boss Bradley is going to have a rocky road to travel in his race for the gubernatorial nomination next year.

CONGRESSMAN DINGLEY, of Maine, says substantially that the Republicans will never restore the McKinley law, but will retain the good features of the present law, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. Mr. Dingley is one of the leading Republicans of the East, and is one of many who have enough of McKinleyism.

THE BALLOT.

The Maysville BULLETIN thinks an amendment to the election law should be enacted providing that in case of a contest it would be competent to prove how an elector had voted, and that each ballot be numbered with the stub. But that amendment would destroy the very essence of the secret ballot. It was designed forever to prevent public knowledge of how an elector marked his ballot; whether he scratched it or whether he did his whole duty and voted it straight.

Moreover the temptation to get up contests would be great in order to get at the way men voted. The suggestion of the BULLETIN that the ballots should be preserved until after the time in which notice of the contest had expired is good. The requirement that the ballots be destroyed immediately after they have been counted is not only offering an opportunity for fraud but it destroys the evidence on which a contest must be based. The thing to do is to acquiesce in the fact that the secret ballot will remain and have the laws regulating the details perfected as far as possible.—Covington Commonwealth.

The amendment suggested by the BULLETIN does not contemplate an examination of any ballot, except where it is first proved that the ballot was cast by an illegal voter; no other ballot is to be inspected at all.

If it should be proved that a voter was disqualified and had no right to vote, then the ballot cast by that voter should be thrown out, provided the law fixes a way to identify it, which can be done as the BULLETIN suggested by numbering each ballot consecutively, as the stubs are now numbered.

The man who casts a ballot unlawfully and fraudulently is not a voter in the eyes of the law, and he is entitled to no protection under the law he has violated.

The amendment suggested would not destroy "the very essence of the secret ballot," the Commonwealth to the contrary notwithstanding.

SALES OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

Remedies for Violation of Contract. Opinion of the Superior Court in a Recent Case.

In affirming the decision of the Mason Circuit Court in the case of Wiggins versus Rogers, the Superior Court says:

First—Where there has been a sale of personal property which by the terms of the contract was to be delivered by the vendor to the vendee and the latter refuses to accept it when tendered, the former has any one of three remedies to pursue. He may (1) consider the property as his own and bring his suit for damages, the measure being the difference between the contract price and market value of the goods; (2) he may treat the property as the vendee's and sue him for the whole of the purchase price; or (3) he may, using due precaution, sell the property and sue the vendee for the difference between the amount realized at this sale and the contract price.

Second—In this action by the vendor of a crop of tobacco to recover the entire contract price, alleging that he had delivered a part of the crop, and was ready, able, and willing to deliver the balance, it appearing that after a part of the tobacco was delivered the defendant refused to receive the balance because it was in bad condition, and that thereupon the parties rescinded the contract, the vendee agreeing to pay the vendor a certain sum as soon as he removed his tobacco from the vendee's warehouse, the court properly non-suited the plaintiff. He was not entitled to recover in this action for a breach of the second contract.

OPPOSITION TO BRADLEY.

Many Republican Leaders are Said to Have it in for the Boss.

COVINGTON, Nov. 28.—The anti-Bradley feeling in this district throughout the State is growing among the Republicans, and if they should bring out a good strong man against Bradley, he would, if the present talk is converted into action, be a sure winner. During the past week or ten days, many prominent Republicans from all over the State have visited Cincinnati, and have been interviewed by your correspondent. Either these men have, by a strange coincidence, all been strong anti-Bradley men, or the feeling against the Republican leader is far-reaching and will affect his canvass for the nomination disastrously.

During his years of leadership Bradley has made many enemies among the leaders of his party. In no instance has he done anything to conciliate them, but relying on his influence with the rank and file has treated their enmity with indifference, and in some instances themselves with contempt.

This line of action has begun to bear fruit, and Col. Bradley to-day finds arrayed against him the most influential men of his party. They are men who stand well with the masses and who are good fighters. Many of those whom I have seen say that they are against Bradley, and in case of his nomination they will not support him at the polls. There are others who say they will vote for him in case he wins.

There are several Republican leaders who have not taken sides against Bradley, but who are waiting until some good man is brought out. If the new candidate meets with their approval they will join hands against Bradley.

As the matter now stands it looks as if Bradley will be unable in case he wins in the convention to rally to his support the undivided party. This is the cry that his enemies are using in their efforts to defeat him. It is having its effect, and many who personally favor his candidacy are being influenced by it and in order to harmonize the party will support some one else.

The opposition against the Lancaster statesman is strong, and if it can be organized on a single line it will mean Col. Bradley's defeat. His friends are working to prevent this and will endeavor to divide this opposition by getting out several strong candidates, who, while seemingly for themselves, will be really for Bradley, and at the last minute throw what personal following they have to him.

EAST LIMESTONE.

Everyone seemed to enjoy a large fat turkey Thanksgiving.

A great many hogs were killed in this neighborhood the past week.

There were five hundred bushels of turnips raised on the Steward farm this year.

From the demand for cane seed we suppose there will be a large crop of sorghum raised next year.

Messrs. Turnipseed, Brodt and Schatzman spent Thanksgiving hunting and killed sixty-one rabbits.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Williams and sons, Howard and Charlie, returned last week from a week's visit to relatives in Lewis and Fleming.

Mrs. Albert Kidder, who has been spending some time with her brother, R. C. Williams, is in very poor health, and is yet unable to be removed to her home in the Sixth ward, where her husband Mr. Albert Kidder, of Foxport, has recently located.

Mrs. R. C. Williams received the sad news early Monday morning, of last week, of the death of little Violet, eldest child of Preston and Alice Degman Martin, of Foxport. The unfortunate death of the little one occurred early the Saturday morning previous by her clothes taking fire from a stove. She was a bright, beautiful child, twenty-two months old. This sad affair is a terrible blow to the heart broken parents whose lives have been heretofore unusually bright and happy.

SPRINGDALE.

The C. and O. have erected a chute for loading stock at this place.

James Elliott, who has been very ill for some time, is able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy are rejoicing over the arrival of a new baby at their home.

Stockton B. Tully, who has been very sick, is able to resume duties again as night operator here.

Miss Florence Tully, of Cottageville, returned home Monday after a few days visit with relatives here.

C. G. Degman and his sister, Miss Clara, were both at home to spend Thanksgiving with their parents at Maplewood.

Died, November 24th, at Foxport, Fleming County, Violet Degman Martin, aged twenty-two months.

A lovely flower was little Violet. Ever full of joy and mirth. But too fair and rare a treasure To remain with us on earth.

Now her mission here is ended. She has crossed the silvery stream. And she beckons us to meet her 'Mid the golden city's gleam.

J. T. KACKLEY & CO.'S DISPLAY.

Holiday Goods Were Never as Low as They Are Now.

J. T. Kackley & Co.'s store was ablaze with electric lights last night and from dark until a late hour it was thronged with men, women and children admiring the elegant display of holiday goods and enjoying the music discoursed by Bailey's Orchestra. Suffice it to say that a finer display of holiday novelties has never been seen in this city. And the people will be surprised when they price these articles. A handsome manicure set that formerly sold at $3.50 and $4, goes this year at $1.40. An Oxford teacher's Bible that cost $3 and $4 a few years ago, is down to $1.50 now. The same is true of the price of other books and goods.

"I have never seen goods so low," was a remark of Mr. Kackley. And this will be good news for the people.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with neuralgia and rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by J. James Wood.

FRANK WOODLAND ARMSTRONG.

A Former Well Known and Highly Esteemed Citizen Passes Away at Battle Creek, Mich.

Frank Woodland Armstrong died at Battle Creek, Mich., at 12:45 p. m. Monday. A telegram during the afternoon brought the sad news to relatives and friends at this point.

He had been in feeble health for many years and had used every effort, with an ample fortune at his command, to stay the dread malady, having visited the noted resorts for invalids on both continents.

Deceased was the son of the late John Armstrong, who was one of the most successful business men in the early history of Maysville, and who did as much to build up the town as any citizen of his time. Many monuments of his enterprise are extant among the best business houses and residences of our city.

Frank W. Armstrong spent his boyhood days in Maysville; attended the Maysville Seminary under Rand & Richeson; subsequently attended school at or near Louisville, under the charge of the late Bishop Smith; then about the time of the breaking out of the war he went to Paris, France, where he had a brother, and pursued his studies there for several years. Coming back to this country after the war, he engaged in some commercial enterprises at Cincinnati, but in later years his failing health forbade close attention to any business.

He was a man of fine intelligence, great urbanity of manner, a true friend and a man of a high order of integrity—his word was as good as his bond. In his death a happy family circle loses an affectionate and loving husband and a fond and devoted father. He was as thoroughly equipped for the enjoyment of life as any man the writer has ever known—barring, of course, his poor health. His friends and relatives will miss him. His genial manner, bright and vivacious in spite of the depressed condition of his health, made him always a welcome companion and a cherished friend.

He was most happily married to Miss Trimble, of Hillsboro, Ohio, who survives him. He leaves but one child, a daughter, who is the wife of Robert Sweigert, Esq., of Lexington, Ky.

His funeral will occur at Cincinnati on Thursday afternoon, December 6th.

PERSONAL.

—Miss Louie Bruer went to Cincinnati Monday to take a post-graduate course in stenography and book-keeping.

—Rev. W. O. Cochran will return this evening from Crittenden, Ky., where he was called Monday to officiate at a funeral.

—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tierney have returned home, after spending Thanksgiving with the family of Mr. M. Walton, of Millcreek.

—Professor Kaye and wife, of Orangeburg, have returned home after spending a few days with Dr. J. P. Huff and family of Vanceburg.

—Sharpsburg World: "Geo. Taylor and Misses Daisy, Sarah and Hattie Taylor, of Washington, Mason County, visited Mrs. R. F. Caldwell last week."

A. C. and O. Extension.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., December 2.—The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company has contracted for the construction of a branch line twenty-five miles in length into the North Branch coal field. The road has been surveyed, and will follow the North Branch over to within a few miles of the Norfolk and Western. It will tap a splendid coal field divided almost entirely by the Flat Top Coal Land Association, which now has no outlet except to the South by way of the Norfolk and Western.

MARRIED, Wednesday, November 28th, at the residence of Mr. J. T. Talbott, near Colville, Harrison County, Mr. Luther Endicott, of Harrison County, to Miss Mamie Willett, of Lexington, Rev. Dr. George Varden, of Paris, officiating. Mr. Endicott, who is a son of William Endicott, is a thriving young farmer. Miss Willett is a daughter of Mrs. Willett, of the Phoenix Hotel, Lexington, and formerly resided in this city.

FRANKFORT'S electric street railway company is in trouble and it is now practically settled that the line has been abandoned until next summer. The ordinance permitting the company to operate requires the road to be in continuous operation, and a penal bond to secure this was exacted of the company when it began last year. The City Council, by an oversight, so called, recently delivered up the bond to the railway authorities, and the latter at once suspended operations, as they had been losing money heavily for several weeks. The citizens are indignant at the situation of affairs, but no remedy has as yet been suggested.

THE GALES MEETINGS.

The Revival Services at Central Presbyterian Church Being Well Attended.

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock the first meeting for a mixed audience was held at the Central Presbyterian Church, with a very good attendance of our citizens.

Mr. Gales is a most delightful speaker, impressing his audience with his love and zeal in the Master's cause.

The night meeting began at 7 o'clock with a praise service lasting thirty minutes, conducted by Prof. J. H. Rowland, Mr. R. L. Hoeslich presiding at the organ. Quite a crowd of young men were present, and the meeting opened auspiciously. Two professed conversions to Jesus the Christ.

The women's prayer and praise service in Young Men's Christian Association hall was conducted by Rev. D. P. Holt. A most spirited awakening was visible and these nightly gatherings of our women will wonderfully help Rev. Mr. Gales.

This afternoon in Central Presbyterian Church the mixed audience is expected at 3 o'clock promptly. To-night at 7 o'clock, men only invited.

At M. E. Church, Third street, the women's prayer and praise service will be held at 7 o'clock.

Yesterday, through some misunderstanding, the church was not well heated or lighted. We promise more comfort and more cheerfulness from this on.

Several cottage prayer meetings will be held to-morrow morning at 9:30. All are invited to assist by prayer and effort in bringing about the blessings of God the Father upon the people of Maysville, both saint and sinner.

FINANCIAL REFORM.

port reviews the operations of his department for the last fiscal year and makes recommendations for the further extension of its usefulness. He reports a saving in expenditures during the year of $600,000, which is covered back into the treasury. This sum is 23 per cent of the entire appropriation.

A special study has been made of the demand for American farm products in all foreign markets, especially Great Britain. That country received from the United States during the nine months ending Sept. 30, 1894, 305,910 live beef cattle, valued at $26,500,000 against 182,611 cattle, valued at $16,634,000, during the same period for 1893.

During the first six months of 1894 the United Kingdom took, also, 112,000,000 pounds of dressed beef from the United States, valued at nearly $10,000,000. The report shows that during the nine months immediately preceding Sept. 30, 1894, the United States exported to Great Britain 223,670,000 pounds of pork; of apples, 1,900,000 bushels, valued at $2,500,000; and of horses, 2,811, at an average value of $150 per head.

There is a falling off in American wheat exports of 18,500,000 bushels, and the secretary is inclined to believe that wheat may not in the future be the staple export cereal product of our country, but that corn will continue to advance in importance as an export on account of the new uses to which it is constantly being appropriated.

The exports of agricultural products from the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, amounted to $283,893,088, being 72.25 per cent of American exports of every description and the United Kingdom of Great Britain took more than 54 per cent of all farm products finding foreign markets.

The department of agriculture has undertaken during the year two new and important lines of research. The first relates to grasses and forage plants with the purpose of instructing and familiarizing the people as to the distinctive grasses of the United States and teaching them how to introduce valuable foreign forage plants which may be adapted to this country.

The second relates to agricultural soils and crop production involving the analysis of samples of soils from all sections of the American Union to demonstrate their adaptability to particular plants and crops.

The amount appropriated for the weather bureau was $101,100. Of that sum $183,500, or 14 per cent, has been saved and is returned to the treasury.

Eleventh Census.

The completion of the 11th census is now in charge of the commissioner of labor. The total disbursement on account of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, amounted to $10,865,076.81. At the close of the year the number of persons employed in the census office was 679. At present there are about 400.

The whole number of volumes necessary to comprehend the 11th census will be 25, and they will contain 22,270 printed pages. The assurance is confidently made that before the close of the present calendar year the material, still incomplete, will be practically in hand and the census can certainly be closed by the 4th of March, 1895. After that the revision and proof reading necessary to bring out the volumes will still be required.

Labor Commission.

By virtue of a statute of the United States passed in 1883, I appointed in July last Hon. John D. Kernan of the state of New York and Hon. Nicholas E. Worthington of the state of Illinois to form with Hon. Carroll D. Wright, commissioner of labor, who was designated by said statute a commission for the purpose of making careful inquiry into the causes of the controversies between certain railroads and their employees, which had resulted in an extensive and destructive strike, accompanied by much violence and dangerous disturbance, with considerable loss of life and great destruction of property.

The report of the commissioners has been submitted to me and will be transmitted to the congress with the evidence taken upon their investigation.

Their work has been well done and their standing and intelligence give assurance that the report and suggestions they make are worthy of careful consideration.

Tariff.

The tariff act passed at the last session of the congress needs important amendments if it is to be executed effectively and with certainty. In addition to such necessary amendments as will not change rates of duty, I am still very decidedly in favor of putting coal and iron upon the free list.

So far as the sugar schedule is concerned, I would be glad, under existing aggravations, to see every particle of differential duty in favor of refined sugar stricken out of our tariff law. If with the favor now accorded the sugar refining interest in our tariff laws it still languishes to the extent of closed refineries and thousands of discharged workmen, it would seem to present a hopeless case for reasonable legislative aid.

Whatever else is done or omitted, I earnestly repeat here the recommendation I have made in another portion of this communication that the additional duty of one-tenth of a cent per pound, laid upon sugar imported from countries paying a bounty on its export, be abrogated. It seems to me that exceedingly important considerations point to the propriety of this amendment.

Finance.

During the last month the gold reserved in the treasury for the purpose of redeeming the notes of the government circulating as money in the hands of the people became so reduced, and its further depletion in the near future seemed so certain that in the exercise of proper care for the public welfare it became necessary to replenish this reserve and thereby draw from the government to meet, as agreed, its pecuniary obligations.

It would have been well if in this emergency authority had existed to issue the bonds of the government bearing a low rate of interest and maturing within a special period; but the congress, having failed to confer such authority, resort was necessarily had to the resumption act of 1875, and, pursuant to its provisions, bonds were issued drawing interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum and maturing 10 years after their issuing, that being the shortest time authorized by the act. I am glad to say, however, that on the sale of these bonds the premium received operated to reduce the rate of interest to be paid by the government to less than 3 per cent.

The redemption or the putting aside of the currency obligation now used to repeatedly and constantly draw from the government its gold, and as long as no better authority for bond issues is allowed than at present exists, such authority will be utilized whenever and as often as it becomes necessary to maintain a sufficient gold reserve and in abundant time to save the credit of our country and make good the financial declarations of our government.

Questions relating to our banks and currency are closely connected with the subject just referred to, and they also present some unsatisfactory features.

Prominent among them are the lack of elasticity in our currency circulation and its frequent concentration in financial centers when it is most needed in other parts of the country. The absolute divorce of the government from the business of banking is the ideal relationship of the government to the circulation of the currency of the country.

This condition can not be immediately reached; but as a step in that direction and as a means of securing a more elastic currency and obviating other objections to the present arrangement of bank circulation, the secretary of the treasury presents in his report a scheme modifying present banking laws and providing for the issue of circulating notes by state banks free from taxation under certain limitations.

The secretary explains his plan so plainly and its advantages are developed by him with such remarkable clearness, that any effort on my part to present argument in its support would be superfluous; I shall, therefore, content myself with an unqualified endorsement of the secretary's proposed changes in the law and a brief and imperfect statement of their prominent features.

It is proposed to repeal all laws providing for the deposit of United States bonds as security for circulation, to permit national banks to issue circulating notes not exceeding in amount 75 per cent of their paid up and unimpaired capital provided they deposit with the government, as a guarantee fund, in United States legal tender notes, including treasury notes of 1890, a sum equal in amount to 80 per cent of the notes they desire to issue, this deposit to be maintained at all times, but whenever any bank retires any part of its circulation a proportional part of its guarantee fund shall be returned to it; to permit the secretary of the treasury to prepare and keep on hand ready for issue in case of an increase in circulation is desired blank national bank notes for each bank having circulation and to repeal the provisions of the present law imposing limitations and restrictions upon banks desiring to reduce or increase their circulation—thus permitting such increase or reduction within the limit of 75 per cent of capital to be quickly made as emergency requires.

In addition to the guarantee fund required, it is proposed to provide a safety fund for the immediate redemption of the circulating notes of failed banks, by imposing a small annual tax, say one-half of 1 per cent, upon the average circulation of each bank until the fund amounts to 5 per cent of the total circulation outstanding.

When a bank fails its guarantee fund is to be paid into a safety fund and its notes are to be redeemed in the first instance from such safety fund thus augmented and impairment of such fund caused thereby to be made good from the immediately available cash assets of said bank, and if these should be insufficient such impairment to be made good by pro rata assessment among the banks, their contributions constituting a first lien upon the assets of failed banks in favor of the contributing banks.

As a further security it is contemplated that the existing provision fixing the individual liability of stockholders is to be retained, and the bank's indebtedness, on account of its circulating notes, is to be made a first lien on all its assets.

For the purpose of meeting the expense of printing notes official supervision, cancellation and other like charges there shall be imposed a tax of say one-half of 1 per cent per annum upon the average amount of notes in circulation.

It is further provided that there shall be no national bank notes issued of a less denomination than $10. That each national bank, except in case of a failed bank, shall redeem or retire its notes in the first instance at its own office or at agencies to be designated by it, that no fixed reserve need be maintained on account of deposits.

Another very important feature of this plan is the exemption of state banks from taxation by the United States in cases where it is shown to the satisfaction of the secretary of the treasury and controller of the currency by banks claiming such exemption that they have not had out standing their circulating notes exceeding 75 per cent of their paid up and unimpaired capital, that their stockholders are individually liable for the redemption of their circulating notes to the full extent of their ownership of stock; that the liability of said banks upon their circulating notes constitutes under their state law a first lien upon their assets; that such banks have kept and maintained a guarantee fund in United States legal tender notes, including treasury notes of 1890 equal to 80 per cent of their outstanding circulating notes, and that such banks have promptly redeemed their circulating notes when presented at their principal or branch offices.

It is quite likely that this scheme may be usefully amended in some of its details, but I am satisfied it furnishes a basis for a very great improvement in our present banking and currency system.

I conclude this communication fully appreciating that the responsibility for all legislation affecting the people of the United States rests upon their representatives in the congress and assuring them that whether in accordance with recommendations I have made or not I shall be glad to co-operate in perfecting any legislation that tends to the prosperity and welfare of our country.

No Tariff Legislation This Session.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Republicans do not favor any tariff legislation at this session. Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island says that he thinks it will be best to allow matters to rest where they are. "Let the country recover," he added, "and we will see if any further legislation is wanted."

About eight years ago, Lucy Brooks, colored, was granted a divorce from Henry Brooks by the Mason Circuit Court. Henry drifted to Ripley and soon found him another wife. Last spring Lucy moved to Ripley and last week she and Brooks were again married, Henry having obtained a divorce from his second wife the week before.

A MEMBER of the gang of merchant swindlers recently captured in Eastern Kentucky wanted to employ Senator Goebel, of Covington, to defend him, a few days ago:

"Where is my fee to come from?" asked Senator Goebel.

"Well, we can give you a 900-pound brass bell."

"Where's the bell?"

"Up in Morgan County."

"Is it paid for?"

"No," the fellow answered.

The Post didn't say whether the Senator took the case or not.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.
